Older Americans Month Essay Contest winners announced

Central Arizona Aging sponsored an Essay Contest for High School Students in honor of Older Americans Month.

Each year the month of May is recognized as Older Americans Month. Central Arizona Aging offered high school students the unique opportunity to interview an older adult age 65+ and write an essay on what they had learned from the interview, as well as how they will apply that knowledge to their own lives.

The process of this intergenerational interviewing helps high school students develop the skills of organizing and preparing for an interview and presenting data collected through their interviews, into a coherent narrative or story. By providing a venue for Older Americans to interact with younger generations, there is an opportunity to build new relationships, as well as decrease feelings of isolation and depression. Some of the benefits for both students and older adults can be a higher sense of purpose and self-esteem. It is truly a mutually beneficial learning experience on both sides.

The two main themes that seemed to flow through the essays were how students found the older adults to be interesting and knowledgeable, as well as recognizing all the changes in the world that older adults had experienced in their lifetimes.

Essays were reviewed and winners chosen by an independent judge. Prize money was donated anonymously.

OBITUARY

Daniel R. 'Beets' Romero

With hearts full of love and gratitude, we announce the peaceful passing of our beloved Daniel R. "Beets" Romero, on Friday, May 16, 2025, at his home, surrounded by family. Though his time on earth has come to an end, his warmth, laughter, and unwavering love will forever remain in the hearts of all who knew him.

Born in Superior, Arizona on July 21, 1938, to Ernesto and Armida Miranda Romero. Danny was the 11th of 13 children in a close-knit family. From a young age, he shined brightly—an outstanding athlete in both football and basketball, proudly representing the Superior Panthers. Though he was offered several athletic scholarships, Danny followed his heart and lifelong dream of becoming a miner, beginning his career at Magma Copper as a Heavy-Duty Equipment Operator.

He later served his community with strength and compassion as a Correctional Officer III at both the AZ State prison and the private prison of CCA in Florence, AZ and here in Globe when it was a juvenile detention center and later an adult State prison. Through every chapter of his life, Danny carried himself with humility, quiet strength, and a deeply rooted kindness that touched everyone he met.

Danny's faith in God was steadfast and sincere. Though he did not follow organized religion, his life was a testament to grace, goodness, and open-hearted love. He embraced all with compassion — never judging, always welcoming. To many, he wasn't just "Tata," he was their Tata — an anchor, a storyteller, a protector, and a gentle teacher of life's simple joys.

He found peace in nature, whether deer hunting, chopping wood, or cooking breakfast in the mountains with "the gang." His joy was greatest when surrounded by family and friends, sharing meals, laughter, and stories. He was patient with every living creature and had a heart that made room for all.

Danny was preceded in death by his parents, Ernesto and Armida Romero; beloved children, Danny Jr.,

Rachel, Elaine, and Lisa Romero; grandson, John "Bean" Carrasco; and dear siblings, Sal Ruiz, Gusti Romero, Sophie Carrizosa, Lucy Ruiz, Art Romero, Arturo "Pungas" Romero, Ernesto Romero, Raul Romero, and Beatrice "Tuca" Arvizu. He also mourned the loss of many nieces and nephews who held a special place in his heart.

He leaves behind his devoted wife, Annie Alvarez Romero; loving daughters, Rosanna Romero, Stephanie Avalos and Jennifer Romero; along with eight grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren who will carry forward his legacy. He is also survived by his beautiful sisters, Mary Lou Mendoza, Roxanna Cota, and Minnie Denoegan; and numerous nieces and nephews dear to his heart.

Our deepest thanks go to those who walked beside us in this journey: the compassionate staff of Dr. Joseph Ring, Dr. Karen Gremminger, Dr. Mazhar, Interim HealthCare, Billett Home Healthcare and Thema Hospice. To our extended family and friends — your love, prayers, and support have lifted us, and we will never forget your kindness.

We take comfort in knowing that Tata is now at peace, reunited with our creator and the loved ones who went before him. His soul, so full of love and faith, now rests in the arms of God.

Until we meet again, Dad... Tata... Danny...we will see you when we see you.

The Superior Enterprise Center hosted the Rural Arizona Pitch Competition on Thursday, May 22, led by the organization Moonshot. Moonshot's mission is to bring products and services to markets and cities in rural Arizona to develop entrepreneurial ecosystems that create jobs.

Ten participants from Superior and the surrounding areas gathered to receive mentorship and access to information that will help bring their business ideas from concept to reality. First place in the competition was Lisa Hilchie of Superior for Awakened Baked Goods, a new venture focusing on healthy ingredients and the impacts of diet on overall health. Lisa will now compete for the $10,000 grand prize through Moonshot and received $1,000 from the local competition.

In second place was Maya Barton with Art 145 LLC with a $500 award as she scales up her art studio, classroom and gallery at the Main Street location in Superior. In third place was Billie Jo Villaverde for Dance Couture, a venture that trains local seamstresses and creatives to fabricate folklorico dance dresses, trajes and accessories. All ten participants received scholarships for Moonshot's Constellation platform that will continue to provide them with resources to scale up their projects. The scholarships were provided with funding from the Arizona Commerce Authority and have a value of over $3,000 in resources and connects them with experts in the field of business development, marketing, legal, accounting and more.

"We are so proud and inspired by each of the participants. They are building a brighter future for Superior and our region with their creativity and willingness to put in the hard work to diversify the local economy," commented Manny Guzman, the Executive Director of Rebuild Superior. Rebuild Superior and the Copper Corridor Economic Development Coalition provided funding for the awards and co-hosted the event at the Hive at the Superior Multi-gen Center.

Entrepreneurship, small business mentoring and workforce development are major focuses at the Superior Enterprise Center. Arlynn Godinez is the Director and encouraged participants to utilize the space at the Hive to access information that will help them with keep moving forward. "These services are open to anyone looking to either create or scale up their small businesses not just in Superior but the surrounding areas. All are welcome!"

For more information visit the website at www.SuperiorEnterpriseCenter.com, connect with them on social media or stop by the Hive during operating hours.

The Rural Arizona Pitch Competition continues through the summer and will have a regional stop in Miami on July 17, 2025. Signups are open at moonshotazpitch.com

Avantus holds additional Ore Town Solar

By T.C. Brown
Copper Area News

Staff members from Avantus and BHP were on hand at the Open House to answer questions, address concerns, and provide input regarding the proposed solar farm project on approximately 1,200 acres of previously disturbed BHP land. Several topics were presented and discussed with community members in attendance.

A Visual Simulation was available to view so that attendees could see what the Ore Town Solar Project is expected to look like in video format as seen from Veteran's Memorial Boulevard. More information and the ability to view the simulation can be found at <https://www.oretownsolar.com/visual-simulations>. Additional images and an overview are available as well.

Ore Town Solar is a proposed clean energy project under development on private land in San Manuel, an unincorporated community in Pinal County.

Ore Town would feature a 145 MW solar photovoltaic (PV) facility and a 145 MW Battery Energy Storage System (BESS) to help meet Arizona's growing energy needs. The batteries would store electricity generated from the solar panels and deliver clean energy to the grid during periods of high demand.

Here is some of the information provided:
Solar Makes a Good Neighbor

- A utility-scale solar facility has a low-height profile, generates no emissions or odors, produces minimal noise, and uses only small amounts of water.
- Long, continuous rows of solar panels will be installed behind an existing security fence, with the panels rotating throughout the day.
- Their height typically ranges between 6 to 10 feet above the ground, depending on the angle of rotation.
- The battery systems are housed in modular metal structures that resemble standard shipping containers.
- Once constructed, little to no daily traffic would be produced.

Some answers provided at previous open houses include:

Where will the power go? – “The Ore Town solar project would connect to Arizona's electric grid, improving grid resiliency throughout the region. While the project has not contracted with an energy buyer or utility yet, it is estimated to provide enough clean energy to provide power for approximately 35,000 Arizona homes.”

Community Benefit? – “Ore Town Solar would create jobs and offer a massive boost to local tax revenue without requiring the community to incur costly new services. This infusion of tax resources, estimated to generate tens of millions over the project's operating life, could provide essential funding for services like education, fire districts, and emergency services.

Additionally, the project is expected to create over 200 peak construction jobs, with local hires prioritized.”

Visual Impact? – “We believe viewsheds will be minimally impacted given the solar equipment has a low-profile, around 6 to 10 feet tall, or about the height of a privacy fence. The battery systems resemble the size and shape of standard shipping containers.” The panels reach about 12 feet high when fully extended.

BHP's Role? – “BHP owns the land the project would be sited on. With the mine now closed, the company is hoping to repurpose the land in a clean and economical way.”

Increase in energy bills? – “No. Local electricity rates are not expected to be directly impacted by this project.”

Fire Risk and Safety Concerns? – “Avantus will coordinate closely with the San Manuel Fire District throughout the design, construction, and testing phases to ensure the project adheres to safety standards.

Avantus and project partners will prepare and maintain a comprehensive emergency response plan and will train all first responders on emergency procedures for a solar power plant and energy storage system.

The project will be monitored for any warning signs of potential issues. In the unlikely event of a fire, batteries are designed to prevent a spread beyond the project site. Projects include a minimum 100-foot clearance between battery containers and other buildings, public roads, and combustible material such as vegetation. This buffer also helps protect against high winds or wildfires.” Avantus is actively working with BHP and San Manuel Fire District personnel addressing any concerns.

Project Life? – “After the project life has been completed, the equipment would be removed and the land available for other uses. The project will have contractual agreements with the landowner and county that address the decommissioning of the plant and restoration of the land.” It is expected to go for 30-40 years dependent on agreements and contracts.

More information and answers to FAQs can be found at <https://www.oretownsolar.com/faqs>.

The project is currently moving through the permitting process and could be scheduled for construction in 2026 or 2027 if/when approved. The next step in the process is an application submittal and review. The proposal would be reviewed by the Planning & Zoning staff. Part of the application review process would include Zoning Changes and Planned Area Developments (PAD). Once all required paperwork is submitted in the application it is assigned a case number and placed on the next available agenda for the Planning and Zoning Commission.

The Commission holds public meetings in which anyone from the public may attend and speak to support or oppose a request. Avantus will make a formal presentation to the Commission and respond to any questions. The Commission can take any one of the three actions: continue the case to a future hearing, recommend approval to the Board of Supervisors or recommend denial to the Board. If the Commission makes a recommendation, the case will then be placed on the next available agenda for the Board of Supervisors.

The Board of Supervisors will review the case and vote to approve or deny their request. The Board of Supervisors is the only governing body that has legal authority to approve or deny the request. More information can be found at <https://www.pinal.gov/233/Land-Use-Change-Process>.

Distinguished Gentleman's Ride 2025 held on May 18

Tri-Community member T.C. Brown joined other motorcycle riders from Southern Arizona in Tucson on May 18th for the Distinguished Gentleman's Ride (DGR) annual fundraising event.

Movember has been the official charity partner of The Distinguished Gentleman's Ride since 2016. Both organizations share a simple goal: to bring people together and change the face of men's health.

Funds raised by The Distinguished Gentleman's Ride help to power

Movember's work across two of the most complex issues facing men around the globe: prostate cancer and mental health.

Tucson had 96 riders signed up and raised over $13,000. Internationally DGR 2025 had 125,000 riders in 1037 cities and 108 countries that raised over $7 million and counting. Donations are accepted until June 1, 2025. More information can be found at <https://www.gentlemansride.com/sponsor>. Totals raised since 2012 are in excess of $56 million.

Fires force evacuation of Oracle

The community of Oracle has always been a community prepared for fire and residents in the area know to be prepared. Oracle Fire Department is one of the most recognized departments in the state known for practicing and maintaining Firewise protocols.

On Tuesday, the community was put on alert with the start of the Cedar Fire which started in a secluded area and burned 10 acres. That fire put residents of Oracle on SET status, to be ready to go had the fire not been contained and brought under control. While the community breathed a sigh of relief, on Wednesday afternoon, a much larger blaze began – named the Cody Fire.

The fire quickly burned hot and fast toward the community of Oracle, calling for the Pinal County Office of Emergency Management to order evacuations for several zones of the Oracle community and put all of San Manuel and the rest of the zones in Oracle on SET status. Many of the evacuation zones remained in GO status through Saturday. Set status remained in effect for the community of San Manuel and the other zones in Oracle on Saturday afternoon.

Areas of the Coronado National Forest were closed to the public including the Arizona National Scenic Trail. Segments 12 and 13 of the Arizona Trail were closed, which includes the Red Ridge Trailhead on Mt. Lemmon and the Tiger Mine Trailhead. These closures are expected to remain in place until the fire is fully extinguished.

New to fire management this year is not designating fires to be a Type One or Type Two fire, which prior determined the resources devoted to major fires. Now officials use the term “Complex Incident,” which allows for additional crews and resources for fire management to be increased or decreased easily based on the needs of each incident. Team 4 from the Southwest Area Incident Management Team took over the Cody Fire Management on Friday, May 23.

“We thank the local Type 3 organizations for their efforts on this fire,” stated the incident overview from Team 4 on their InciWeb page.

Team 4 began providing online and in person briefings for those affected by the Cody Fire on Saturday with a community meeting scheduled for Sunday, May 25. During the briefings on Saturday, it was explained that fire lines were holding in the various zones of the fire, which were put in place to protect the communities of Oracle and San Manuel. The fires were burning through some timber, grasslands and brush. High winds and hot temperatures helped the fire to grow and spread in the early days.

PCSO Public Information Officer Sam Salzwedel confirmed Saturday that structures have been lost. Five homes were destroyed; one damaged; and eight other structures were burned, Salzwedel said.

Thanks to the hard work of firefighters on the Cody Fire, containment increased significantly on Saturday from five percent to 47 percent and on Sunday it was announced that the fire was at 83 percent containment. They hope to be at full containment on Monday. (This article was written Sunday, May 25, 2025.) The Cody Fire consumed 1,225 acres; 537 fire personnel were assigned to the fire with those crews coming from as close by as Winkelman and many from other southwestern states.

According to fire officials, the Cody Fire was made worse due to extreme drought conditions, low relative humidity and warm temperature and the extreme fire behavior was made worse with mixed fuels and high winds.

Fixed wing and helicopters helped greatly with water and retardant early on to keep it from spreading.

Crews are beginning the process to get supplies and equipment in needed to restore power to the affected areas.

There is still a great deal of fuel in the state overall including the areas around the Tri-Community, fire officials said. Amazing response from the local fire department and first responders initially helped from this fire being much worse. Tactics were well utilized, the officials said.

Local fire districts hope to focus on fuel reduction in the communities in the area. Firewise ideas and techniques will help with in this endeavor.

Firefighters are still working in and around the Oracle community to ensure safety and health of the residents and first responders.

Evacuations were lifted for most of the affected areas and those zones and the town of San Manuel on SET status were moved back to READY.
